"I'll give you a name that'll suit you perfectly..."

Nana (no-name in Japanese) has no memory of his childhood before the age of twelve, when a store owner took him in and cruelly named him. The only clues to Nana's past life are the burn scars on his legs and his irrational fear of fire.

Enter Mitsuhe, a vegabond writer, who crashes Nana's place at the insistence of a mutual friend. At first, Nana loathes Mitsuhe's very existence – although he can't sleep alone, Nana doesn't like it when his new roommate climbs into bed with him, either – but eventually, he warms to Mitsuhe's sincerity and kindness and finds happiness waking beside him. Can their budding relationship help Nana come to terms with his unknown past? Are Mitsuhe's feelings real, or is Nana simply a replacement for someone he lost long ago?

Momoko Tenzen, creator of The Paradise on the Hill, presents two tales of haunted pasts and forbidden loves sure to intrigue and delight!
